“The Summa Health Traumatic Stress Center saved my life.”

As a result of 40 years of anger, and frustration, and suicidal thoughts that he brought home from Vietnam, Tom Saal (on the right) knew he needed help. He was reborn through the help of Dr. Patrick Palmieri and the Summa Health Traumatic Stress Center, a nationally recognized leader in the treatment of traumatic stress.

You can make immediate impact on behavioral health to support life-saving programs and services with a named fund. Or, you can create a lasting legacy through endowment gifts.

Programmatic Giving Opportunities

Summa Health offers diverse, program-specific giving opportunities in support of the Summa Health Behavioral Health Institute. You can make a gift to name your programmatic area of interest, such as:

- Summa Health Traumatic Stress Center
- Partial Hospitalization Program
- Akron Physician Wellness Initiative
- Music and Art Therapy Programs
- Addiction Medicine Intensive Outpatient Program
- Addiction Medicine Fellowship
- First Step Program
- Ignatia Hall (Detox Unit)

Creating Your Legacy

Following are opportunities for establishing your individual or family legacy in the Summa Health Behavioral Health Institute and our community.

Endowed Fellowship

$2,000,000+

Attract and educate fellows with the best potential to make significant contributions to clinical research in behavioral health.

Endowed Chair

$1,500,000+

Support the outstanding leadership, clinical excellence, research impact and innovation of the chair holder or director.

Endowed Fund

$50,000+

Recruit, retain and honor the most talented physicians, residents and researchers in behavioral health.

Named Fund

$25,000+
